

About Us

Round the Bend Farm is our working family farm owned and operated by my husband Brian and myself Sue Feddema. We have been here for over 30 years.

We both grew up on farms, and after graduating from university with a teaching degree and a degree in agricultural economics we purchased Round The Bend Farm with the hope of combining our expertise to be able to make our living off the land.

We have combined our love for growing food and teaching others. We run a Spring and Fall school tour program, have an on farm market, a CSA bin program and we also raise and market turkeys for the holidays.

Throughout the years we have seen our 5 children become responsible, hard working adults. Our eldest, Jonathan, has caught the independent bug and is a co-owner of The Boardroom, in Guelph; our second son, Benjamin, gained a love for food while working on the farm and is now a chef. Our third son, David, has graduated from university as a teacher and is teaching in England. Rebecca, our first daughter, loved watching Brian design, build and fix things and is now in Carleton University pursuing an engineering degree. Our last child, Rachel, is in college and wants to work with people. All their experiences on the farm have helped them become the people they are today.

We believe it is necessary to be stewards of the land, we practice sustainable farming and believe that healthy farming practices makes for healthy soil which in turn makes for healthy vegetables and fruits.
